It is nice to see someone outside the local scene is aware of our 6 game winning streak.

Some of the pieces of the article were taken from an article Monson did last week, but overall, it is nice to see an article on ESPN.

Most of the national attention we got from 2004 has gone away and we are considered another Mid-Major program in a mediocre conference.

That's why it's ever so important that we take down BYU. This week BYU is ranked 23 in both polls. We take them down and we could replace them there. We're starting to get votes.

Air Force's season is done and they're just outside the top 25. The more teams we can have in the top 25 the better it help everyone in the conference.
