
Props to Sakoda

Posted by Phife - 2007/10/11 22:22

Louie Sakoda has been awesome this year. He was a big factor in the win against Louisville last week and was honored for that by being named MWC special teams player of the week for the 2nd time.

Way to go Louie! Keep up the good work!

=====

Re:Props to Sakoda

Posted by JRodd - 2007/10/12 04:57

Dude, Louie is one of the best players on the team, no question! He's by far the most consistent player. He's missed one PAT on a botched snap and one field goal into a nasty headwind that killed it, tho it was squarely down the middle. He consistently kicks punts inside the 20 and if we had guys that would run down to the endzone line and look up for the football instead of waiting for it to bounce before making a play on the ball, he'd have several punts inside the 5 yard line. Louie is a stud. That's why it's critical to use a scholarship on a good kicker. They are money!

=====

Re:Props to Sakoda

Posted by Phife - 2007/10/12 17:46

I'm glad we have Louie for another year! If Whit was smart, he would start looking for another kicker and get him recruited for when Louie leaves.

Bingham High has an awesome kicker that set the state record for a 63 yard field goal earlier this year. Too bad Bronco already has him verbally committed to BYU.

If there is talent in state, we have to go after it!

=====

Re:Props to Sakoda

Posted by JRodd - 2007/10/13 04:45

I need to see what happened to David Carroll. He was a stud too and was here when Meyer was here, before going on a 2 year mission.

=====