
Predictions For The 2008 Season?

Posted by Phife - 2008/08/29 23:48

Okay...It is finally football season again. Let's have your predictions for how the Utes will end this year!

I'm hopeful for 12-0, but I'm going with 10-2.

Still need Whit to prove to me that he can put it together for a full year, not just in spurts. I still have no faith in Ludwig too!

=====

Re:Predictions For The 2008 Season?

Posted by JRodd - 2008/09/02 16:28

Yep. The play calling is going to be key this year and Ludwig didn't do himself any favors by calling an awful second half. I was glad to see that we had some 10-15 yard pass plays to the middle of the field. That was missing all of last year.

As for my prediction, I think we could struggle at UNM (we always seem to) and @AF is also a concern as we typically struggle with them year in and year out. If we get past those two and take care of business at home, we should be fine and could finish it out 12-0. I'm gonna agree with Phife tho and go 10-2 with a bowl win, again. Guess we'll see :)

=====