
Mack & Asiata - Dual Threat

These should be one of Utah's best 1-2 punches on offense this year. Opposing teams will need to pay attention to these 2.

Would love to see at least one of them eclipse 1,000 yards this year!

If one does, I think it will be Asiata. He was a freakin' freight train on Saturday. He not only laid out the umpire, but also a safety and a linebacker on a defense that was supposed to be really good and carry the team. 11 carries for 77 yards or something like that. Not too bad. 7 yds per carry. I'll take that all day long.

Asiata did look better than Mack on Saturday. We'll see how both of them play against UNLV. Hopefully Mack can get his stats up and do better than the 2.1 yards per carry he had against Michigan. If not, Asiata may get the majority of the carries for the rest of the year.
